DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed March 21, 2002 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(3) because it does not include a concise explanation of the relevance, as it is presently understood by the individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information, of each patent listed that is not in the English language (there is no English language translation and the reference to the specification by the applicant is a reference to a specification that is not in English). It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein, with respect to the foreign references, has not been considered.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they include the following reference sign(s) not mentioned in the description: reference number 5 in Figure 2. A proposed drawing correction, corrected drawings, or amendment to the specification to add the reference sign(s) in the description, are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-4 and 6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kogert et al. 3,570,149. Kogert et al. '149 discloses all the limitations of the claims including the following:

Art Unit: 3728

assembling an upper to a sole (see col. 1, lines 54-60); applying at least one layer of flexible or semi-rigid polymer in a liquid state in predetermined areas of the upper (col. 1, lines 54-60, col. 2, lines 7-11); drying (col. 2, lines 7-11, multiple layers can only be applied if the preceding layer has dried, otherwise would not be separate layers); applying the polymer with a brush (see painting in col. 2, lines 12-13 and 22-24); applying the polymer by spraying (col. 2, lines 12-13 and 20-24); applying the polymer so as to straddle the upper and the sole (col. 1, lines 54-65); liquefying the polymer by heating (col. 2, line 41); the polymer is made of polyurethane (col. 2, line 41).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kogert et al. 3,570,149 as applied to claim 1 above in view of Donzis 5,232,715. Kogert et al. '149 as applied to claim 1 above discloses all the limitations of the claim except for diluting the polymer in a solvent. Donzis '715 teaches that when a liquid is used to apply the outer wall, it is typically a solution of a prepolymer (see col. 5, lines 34-59). Therefore, the applying of a polymer to the upper of Kogert et al. '149 can include combining the polymer with a solvent, as taught by Donzis '715, to apply the outer layer as a liquid and allowing it to dry and cure or harden while removing the solvent and thereby allowing for the layer to be better spread over the upper and sole.

Art Unit: 3728

7. Claims 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kogert et al. 3,570,149 as applied to claim 10 above in view of Norton et al. 6,558,784. Kogert et al. '149 discloses all the limitations of the claims except for the upper comprising a mesh material and the mesh material being three-dimensional. Norton et al. '784 teaches that a coated upper can have a mesh material as one of the layers of the upper and then the upper can be formed into a three-dimensional geometry (see Abstract). This allows for the upper to be light in weight, reinforced and formed into any desired shape. Therefore, it would have been obvious, to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to make the upper of Kogert et al. '149 as applied to claim 10 above, out of the multilayered material including a mesh, as taught by Norton et al. '784, to allow for the upper to be light in weight, reinforced and easy to shape into the desired shape for an shoe.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure and are cited on form 892 enclosed herewith.
